Sunrise Auranaut is a Russian studio project, led by multi-instrumentalist and composer Vitaly Kiselev who creates music inspired mainly by the classical school of 70s Prog.

Kiselev has released 4 instrumental albums, «Childhood's End?» (2013), «Way Of The King» (2013), «The First Cosmic» (2015) and The Ocean Of Unspoken Words (2016).

This fifth album from Russian multi-instrumentalist Vitaly Kiselev sees him raising the bar once more, resulting in his best album yet. More power and more melody but still music inspired by the great classic prog artists of the Seventies, as well as classical composers like Tchaikovsky and Grieg. Helping out on synthesizers is Alexander Malakhov, leaving Kiselev to play the electric and acoustic guitars as well as handle the programming. Kiselev's day job as a designer is reflected in the stunning artwork
